

The American public is already poorly informed; relaxing the FCC ownership rules would only worsen the problem.
Please keep the present limitations in place.